

5 Languages of Appreciation at Work™

MOTIVATING BY APPRECIATION™

BASIC VERSION MILITARY SETTINGS

Inventory Result For:

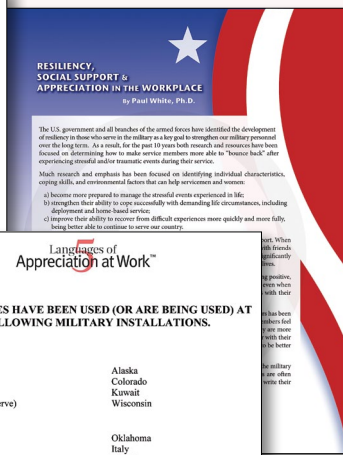

John Doe

January 13, 2017

LANGUAGES OF APPRECIATION IN THE

Copyright © 2016 Gary Chapman & Paul E. White

RESILIENCY, SOCIAL SUPPORT & APPRECIATION IN THE WORKPLACE
by Paul White, Ph.D.

The U.S. government and all branches of the armed forces have identified the development of resiliency in those who serve in the military as a key goal to strengthen our military personnel over the long term. As a result, for the past 10 years both research and resources have been focused on determining how to make service members more able to "bounce back" after experiencing stressful and/or traumatic events during their service.

Much research and emphasis has been focused on identifying individual characteristics, coping skills, and environmental factors that can help servicemen and women:

- a) become more prepared to manage the stressful events experienced in life;
- b) strengthen their ability to cope successfully with demanding life circumstances, including deployment and home-based service;
- c) improve their ability to recover from difficult experiences more quickly and more fully, being better able to continue to serve our country.

Languages of Appreciation at Work™

OUR RESOURCES HAVE BEEN USED (OR ARE BEING USED) AT THE FOLLOWING MILITARY INSTALLATIONS.

U.S. ARMY
Fort Richardson	Alaska
Fort Carson,	Colorado
Camp Arifjan,	Kuwait
Ft. McCoy (Army Reserve)	Wisconsin
U.S. AIR FORCE
Vance Air Force Base	Oklahoma
Aviano Air Base	Italy
Langley Air Force Base	Virginia
Keesler Air Force Base
U.S. MARINE CORPS
Marine Corps Recruit Depot	California
MCAS Marine Corps Community Services	Arizona
U.S. NAVY
Naval Air Station Joint Reserve Base	Louisiana
(New Orleans Housing Service Center)
Portsmouth Naval Shipyard	Maine
(Naval Branch Health Clinic)
OTHER
Hungarian AF	Budapest
Papago Park Military Reservation	Arizona
Warrior Transition Battalion	Europe

MILITARY WORKSETTINGS

Since our resources are not expensive, we have worked together with Family Support Services, Chaplains, and Resiliency Training Officers to be able to buy training resources through purchase orders, by credit card, or other means – working within the budgetary rules and procedures. For information on the Military Version of the Motivating by Appreciation Inventory, click here.

For more information, email us at admin@appreciationatwork.com or call (316) 681-4431